How does FIFA work? In FIFA, teams battle it out on the pitch using their favourite sportman to score points in winning matches. At the end of each match you're given a "Wins" or "Draws" result and points are awarded for a win, a draw or a loss. The more points you win, the higher you'll climb through the leaderboard standings. With the new Player Connection, experience all the emotion of victory and defeat, watching players celebrate a goal that they've scored, or feeling the roar of the crowd with the players running out to celebrate with them. You earn points by playing matches, so you'll get more matches by playing more games. If you're a League or Tournament game winner, your points will be doubled, and your team will gain access to the next level. As you climb up the rankings, you'll be able to play more matches, and win prizes from the higher levels. If you're playing a single player game, playing matches is free of charge. Every game has five stages, giving you plenty of opportunities to earn points and climb up the Leaderboards. You earn more points based on your performance in the team game. It's a lot harder to perform well in matches where your team is losing or drawing. The team game is the most important in the game bc9d6d6daa
