Once activated, selecting and actuating this graphic can be done in various manners: click to the right mouse button, double-click to the left mouse button, or press Enter to initiate. Additional controls The two buttons on the bottom left corner of the screen represent two additional controls that can be implemented: Shift the camera Shift the camera when you select the "player" graphic. Moving the camera follows the player. Shift + the mouse rotation graphic will rotate the camera accordingly. Sneak The camera will give away when you're moving. The game will then allow you to move sideways without being detected. These controls can be fully customised in the settings menu. Controls also apply to some if the game's movement options: The "Camera speed" controls the speed at which the camera moves; you can set it to fast, medium or slow. The "Camera rotate" controls how often the camera will rotate to follow the player; set it to fast or slow. The "Camera peek" controls how often the camera gives away your position; set it to fast or slow. Once you have entered the map, you'll find a slider that lets you control how visible the map is to other players; you can make the map visible to all players, to only your friends, or only to yourself. This game is all about keeping things simple. You have to be able to approach a problem from any angle. The moment you do that you can never go back, so having any tools that add complications are not welcome. That's what keeps things so simple. You can hold down the ESC key to quit the game if you wish. When this happens, your data is not lost, but the world is reset. This can be done by putting your device into Airplane Mode or into Silent Mode, then powering it back up when you're ready to restart. If you get an error
